Distance learning classes offered by other institutions in the Indiana College Network (ICN) are made available to Purdue students through the Distance Learning Center in Stewart Center to enable students to continue studies which are vital to their progress toward graduation. Learning Center staff will register Purdue students for ICN classes based on the student certifying that all available campus options (Purdue-originated distance courses and regular classes) have been explored and no alternatives are available, or that special and/or extenuating circumstances exist for the student. A completed Form 23 must accompany this authorization form when the student visits the Learning Center to register.

Note: Learning Center staff reserve the right to decline to place a student in an ICN section if a Purdue-originated section has space available. Learning Center staff do not guarantee that any desired ICN will be available. Learning Center staff will not register students in any Purdue-originated section; students must enroll themselves through myPurdue. Learning Center staff will not enroll a student in a substitute course without authorization from the student's Academic Advisor via a Form 23.

Student's Request: Please check the reason you are requesting to be enrolled in an ICN course.

I am making the request to be placed in an ICN section because of one or more extenuating circumstance(s) indicated below:
